Dear friends and partners,

The year 2023 began with an expectation of a peak year in aviation activity at Ben Gurion International Airport.

The passenger traffic forecast spoke of 24 million international passengers, and as the months went by we observed further surges in passenger traffic as new airlines and destinations were added to the roster.

The peak was attained in the month of August, when an all-time record high in BGIA's activity was recorded with 2,834,172 international passengers.

Adjustments of processes and resources greatly contributed to increasing capacity while still maintaining functional continuity and the provision of a high level of service to passengers.

Over 2.4 million international passengers went through the full outbound passenger process in Terminal 1 this year.

As is done every year, in 2023 as well, and more prominently than in previous years, the organization's managers and employees have pitched in on the effort to bolster and assist in the provision of service to passengers.

Since October 7, the State of Israel has been experiencing the most difficult time in its history. The impacts of the war are also felt in the field of civil aviation. BGIA continues to operate in strict observance of passengers' and aircraft's safety.

Israeli airlines have continued operating during this complicated time, have sent out rescue flights, flights to bring reserve soldiers back to Israel and maintained aviation connections with all parts of the world. The volume of operations of the three Israeli airlines in 2023 constituted approximately 34.5% of the airport's total activity.

We have recently witnessed a gradual return to BGIA by foreign airlines; airlines such as Lufthansa, Swiss, Austrian, Tarom and others are gradually resuming their activity at the airport. Other airlines have expressed interest in resuming their activity at BGIA shortly.

The year 2024 will pose a further challenge for the airport and its activity partners, the airlines and concessionaires. We will all have to be ready for the imminent period of recovery and do the utmost to provide passengers with an optimal level of service, all while we undertake processes for the development of our terminals, which will take place at the airport over the coming years.

Together, we will continue to conduct ourselves with professionalism, dedication and resolve to bring about an improvement in the provision of our service while maintaining security and safety. Together, we'll see to it that Ben Gurion International Airport remains strong, serviceable and safe. Hoping for the swift return of our hostages and wishing a swift recovery to those injured.

We'll win this together.

Sincerely yours,

Udi Bar Oz
